

Keywords: International, English, French, gender, justice, development, review, book, print

This book, published by the International Development Research Centre is a contribution to current efforts to re-energize and re-politicize the gender equality agenda in international development. It brings together leading scholars in the gender and development field, who were asked to interrogate the concept of 'gender justice' from conceptual, contextual and strategic angles.

The result is a stimulating multidisciplinary collection that brings feminist analysis to bear on current debates on development and citizenship.

[Gender Justice, citizenship and development \[EN\].doc](#)

[Gender Justice, citizenship and development \[FR\].doc](#)