

Keywords: International, North America, English, media ethics & diversity, internet, racism, gender, online, media

FAIR is the US national media watch group, offering documented criticism of media bias and censorship since 1986, and aiming to invigorate the First Amendment by advocating for greater diversity in the press and by scrutinizing media practices that marginalize public interest, minority and dissenting viewpoints.

The search engine on the website, when used with different diversity categories as keywords, gives links to relevant articles and news in US press. The results give a chronological outline of the relevant issues and debates in the US press, mainly criticism regarding fairness and accuracy in reporting. The articles are usuallz based on the fair.org website.

<http://www.fair.org>